church for conduct unbecoming a christian. Toe charges against Bishop Dubs are that he accused Rev. M. Filtzinger, of Buffalo, and E. B. Esher, son of the bishop, with having falsified a telegram which he sent several years ago, which referred to church business, and that on two occasions he was familiar in his conduct towards women. Nothing criminal is alleged in either case. Dubs has always been a very popular man, and his friends declare that envy is back of the present trial. The investigation is being made behind locked doors, although Dubs was emphatic in his desire to have the public and on motion of Warden adjourned until admitted.

There are, he thinks, serious objections to the basis adopted in the general law especially in its application to married women, but if the basis of the agreement is accepted it would, he believes, result in some cases where there are large families of manufactures a profit of the product of the product of the farmer but a little over $1,000,000, leaving the manufactures a profit of the product of the product of the farmer but a little over $1,000,000, leaving the manufactures a profit of the product of the product

Republicans Resent the Speaker's High-Handed Conduct With Vigorous Language.

The Democrats Become Equally Disorderly -Threats Freely Made by Members on Both Sides

Way to be Broken-Democrats Making Further Concessions-Colonel Vilas Talks in Aid of the Cleveland Boom - Political Items.

COLUMBUS, O., Feb. 19.—There was an exciting and disgraceful scene in the Ohio house of representatives this evening when the Democrats attempted to pass some of the "rippey" bills as they are called. The Republicans attempted dilatory tactics and Speaker Hysell at length refused to scognize the Republican members. They became furious and both Democrats and Republicans were soon on their feet and many about the speaker's desk shaking their fists at him. When the speaker ordered them to their seats and threatened to call the sergeant-at-arms to compel them to do so, several Republicans dared him to do it. Representative Troyer shouted out that he could "lick any two Republicans," and for the time it seemed as if the session would break up in dis-order. The bill was passed.

VILAS INTERVIEWED. He Feels Certain That Tariff Reform and Cleveland are All Right.

CHICAGO, Ill., Feb. 19.-The Times this morning prints a column interview on the political situation with Colonel William Innguage question was resumed. Hop.

Mr. Laurier, leader of the opposition, made a long speech. He defended the French population of Canada, but said be was not in sympathy with his countrymen who were trying to form a separate and new French nation on the banks of the St. Lawrence. He spoke about the part the Protestant province of Ontario was taking in the race and religious war of Canada. He referred to it as overzaoious and meddlesome, and charged the people of Ontario with wishing to drive the French out of the contry at the point of the bayones.

Sir John MacDonald also spoke, but only for a short time. He explained the position of the government on this question. The Conservative party had always supported the French would not be tyranized over, but would receive British fair play at the hands of the government.

A large number of speakers followed until a late hour, when the house adjourned.

beautiful; nowhere on the continent of Ameria is there another spot so beautiful and so pleasant for situation, a scenery so transcendingly charming that the eyes never tire looking upon the same, with an atmosphere as pure and clear as that of Italy; no snow, no freezing, but beautiful bright sunshine almost every day. To the east stretches the broad, beautiful Canadian valley with its lines of pure, spark-ling water. To the north in plain view lies the town of Reno City; to the west Caddo, Darlington and Fort Reno; to the south a beautiful rolling prairie, almost boundless, plainly can be seen the trains as they come rolling down from Caddo Springs and in to the El Reno depot. On February 16 the trains began to make their regular trips to El Reno, carrying the United States mail. This being the end of the division this will be the erminus for several months, and El Reno will take on life and population. Our little city is full of strangers seeking investment, and hundreds more to come. A little handful of us have been holding the fort waiting for what we are now about to realize. Soon we will have two railroads, and more will surely come, making El Repo a railroad center and the capital of Oklahoma. When the educational bill is ettled and all other bills and congress has nothing more to do, then perchance they will attend to our little wants. All right gentlemen, we are in no hurry; we are no onger shut out from the world, we have elegraph communication. The Rock Island depot is fast nearing completetion. It is to be a No. 1 depot. It is to be a No. 1 depot. The side tracks and Y are all in, also the turn table. The passenger train will run into El Reno at 1:45 and remain until 2:30 then leave on its return trip, thus giving passengers time to get dinner before leaving. A number of the wise business men of Reno City are securing lots on which to piace their buildings. I notice several Wichita gentlemen on our streets today, among their number was Mr. Moffatt. Two gentlemen from Topeka have purchased for the purpose of starting a lumber yard, several lots. Business houses are going up in all parts of town. We are now awakened in the early morning by the shrill whistle of the locomotive.

was made public today. He says that on the 12th inst. he received a telegram from Deputy Marshat W. B. Saunders at Pensacola, saying that he would leave that night for Quincy for a prisoner in the jail there and asking that the marshal send him any help that he might call for while there. He also replied by telegraph that he would leave Pensacola that night and meet Saunders at Quincy. Arriving at Quincy they met at the hotel, "Before noon William McFarland, of Quincy. Quincy they met at the hotel, "Before noon William McFarland, of Quincy, called to see Saunders," continues the report, "and seemed surprised to see me there. We dined with him on invitation. After dinner he asked me to go driving with him. I declined. He asked Saunders to accompany him. I warned Saunders that I believed there was a piot to murder him. I went into the country on business and was gone for three hours. On my return I learned that Saunders had gone driving with McFarland and had not returned, though he was expected back at 4 o'clock. Just then a man named Mitchell drove up to the court house with Saunders' dead body in the the buggy and turned the body over to the sheriff. Saunders was shot through the neck, the ball coming out just back of the right ear. The sheriff asked Mitchell if he killed Saunders and he said no. He then asked him if he knew who did and he said no. He would make no further statements. asked him if he knew who did and he said no. He would make no further statements. The body was taken out of the buggy and carried into the court house and Mitchell drove off. I learned afterwards from a reliable source that Saunders was seen driving out of the town in the buggy with Mitchell and McFarland. The prisoner mentioned in Saunders telegram was a colored man who had been arrested by the sheriff of Gadsden for violation of postal laws and confined in the Quinev jail. After the murcer of Saunders I received intimations from friendly sources that I was not safe in that neighborhood and it would be well for me to leave as quickly as possible. The Oklahoma Bill Again Discussed Withing the president to confer brevet rank upon army officers for gallant services in Indian campaigns since 1867, and it was passed.

The house in committee of the whole reported favorably on the bill to provide for the appointment of an assistant secretary of state.

he would cail up the West Virginia contested case of Atkins vs. Pendicton for consideration next Wednesday under the cail of committees.

Mr. Adams, of Illinois, from the judiciary committee, called up the bill to divide the judicial district of North Dakota into four divisions. The bill was passed as was a corresponding senate bill.

The Oklahoma bill was then taken up. Mr. Hooker, of Missippi, gave notice that he would move to strike out all of the bill after section 25 (providing a judicial system for the Iudian territory). He said the bill proposed a grand robbery equalled in the history of civilization only by the spollation of Poland.

Mr. Perkins, of Kansas, said there was not a single provision of the bill which infringed the right of the Indians. The cate leases had spread over the outlet as a consequence of tacking the Indians' bands with the aimighty dollar. Properly, it belonged to the people, they should be permitted to occupy it and to further contribute to the prosperity of the country.

Mr. Tarsney, of Missouri, favored this bill. If it should be true that the government had by treaty or otherwise agreed to abstain from exercising judicial authority over the land then that agreement was in violation of the constitution and fundamental laws of the United States. As to the Cherokee strip, the government had granted only a right of way over it and had never convered the title.

Mr. Morey, of Onio, said that the population of the Indian territory was 27,000, or three times as many as Idaho, Wyoning and Arizona, which were now knocking at the door of union asking admission as states. He had not been able to agree in all respects with the committee. The bill should include all of the Indian territory, Mr. Springer briefly maintained the absolute right of the government to the land within the Oklahoma lines. He said there was not an Indian living on the outlet and the lands were leased to a cattle company. At this point the committee rose and the house adjourned.

Mr. Blair then continued his speech on the educational bill. He said: "This bill would have been killed by packed committees, individual members of which have been threatened by anathemas from their church if they venture to support it. And I give notice to those who propose to kill this bill by indirection and by fraud and by tricks unworthy of the lobby around the senste, that they have blows to receive as well as blows to give.
